Presented after receiving the Strategic Cooperation Supplier Award from Henan Guangyuan New Material Co., Ltd in Linzhou, China at the supplier conference awards ceremony.

Active Minerals International is honored and proud to be a key supplier to Guangyuan. Over our many years of partnership, we have developed a strong relationship that has brought success and prosperity to both companies.

Active Minerals is one of the leading suppliers of Kaolin clay to the fiberglass industry worldwide. We have been a top 100 exporter from the US, seeing close to 1000 containers shipped every month, primarily to markets throughout Asia. While the last two years have been challenging due to Covid and world wide shipping constraints, AMI's proactive actions in expanding production capacity just prior to 2020 allowed us to ensure supply to our key customers, especially Guangyuan. In the same way, Guangyuan's production expansion and process improvements have allowed you to be a world leader in top quality fiberglass. Like any great partnership, we grew together.

When a successful business relationship, based on trust, open communication and understanding, transcends traditional, cultural and physical boundaries, it sets an example to all on how two companies can work together towards mutual benefit. Guangyuan and AMI are prime examples of such a relationship. Our focus together is to embrace Win – Win opportunities, supporting each other to create a bright and long term future as supplier and producer.

Active Minerals wishes Guangyuan much success with your public offering. Such an endeavor is another sign of the remarkable growth and strength your company has experienced. We at Active Minerals know that success and growth will continue long into the future, and look forward to being with you as your supplier every step of the way.
